The following information was compiled for the convenience of baseball writers, broadcasters and telecasters, and was correct at the time of going to press on February 17, 1953

Names of players are arranged alphabetically.

MILTON J. BOLLING (Infielder)

6' 1"; 180 pounds; bats and throws right

Born in Mississippi City, Mississippi on August 9, 1930, Bolling makes his home in Mobile, Alabama. He is now in his senior year at Springhill College from which he expects to graduate in 1953. Milton was signed to his first contract with Roanoke by George Digby, Red Sox scout, and in 1949 was selected on the All Star Team in the Piedmont League. Recalled from Birmingham, he joined the Red Sox late in the 1952 season. During the off season, Bolling finds time to coach at a playground in addition to his studies. He is married.

RALPH H. BRICKNER (Pitcher)

6' 3"; 210 pounds; bats and throws right

Born on May 2, 1926 in Cincinnati, Brickner now resides in Bridgetown, Ohio. In high school he was an all-state basketball player. "Deke" then attended Indiana University. While pitching for a local semi-pro team he was signed by Heine Groh, a Phillies scout, to his first professional contract. In Birmingham in 1951 he pitched six shutouts during the regular season and was chosen on the Southern Association All Star Team. In May of 1952 his contract was optionally assigned to Louisville but was recalled on June 28. During the past winter he worked as district manager of an advertising paper. Ralph's hobby is coaching junior teams. He is married, and has one son.

WILLIAM A. CONSOLO (Infielder)

5' 11"; 180 pounds; bats and throws right

Born in Cleveland, Ohio on August 18, 1934, Bill attended Dorsey High School in Los Angeles where he won many athletic honors. He was chosen on the All City Baseball Team in 1950, 1951 and 1952, selected Player of the Year in 1951 and 1952 and Athlete of the Year in 1952, and received the Helms Athletic Foundation award. Consolo has had six years of American Legion ball and captained the 1951 national champions. During the winter he played with a semi-pro baseball team, was first string guard on the high school basketball team and sprinter on the track team where he was clocked for the 100 in 10 flat. After graduating from Dorsey, Bill was signed to a Red Sox contract by Joe Stephenson. His hobby is ceramics, he is single and makes his home with his parents in Los Angeles.

IVAN M. DELOCK (Pitcher)

5' 11"; 175 pounds; bats and throws right

A native of Michigan born in Highland Park on November 11, 1929, he has continued to make his home there. "Ike", a nickname acquired in his first year of pro ball, played baseball, football and basketball in high school and was signed to his first professional contract by Maurice Deloof, Red Sox scout, upon his discharge from the Marine Corps. In 1951 with Scranton he was named on the All Star Team. His contract was purchased in September and he joined the Red Sox after the Eastern League playoffs. A hotrod enthusiast, Delock spends his winters working at odd jobs. He is married.

DOMINIC P. DI MAGGIO (Outfielder)

5' 9"; 170 pounds; bats and throws right

Dom, familiarly known in baseball as the Little Professor, was born in San Francisco on February 12, 1918. He played his first professional ball with the San Francisco Seals in 1937, and so rapid was his development that he was named the Pacific Coast League's most valuable player in 1939. Dom came to the Red Sox in 1940 after being scouted by Joe Cronin. One of the great centerfielders in the game, he led the American League outfielders in double plays — 7 — in 1942; in 1947 he tied for this honor and in 1948 broke the American League record for the most total chances accepted by an outfielder in one season. In 1949 DiMag tied the American League for most years, 400 or more putouts by an outfielder (4), and in 1951 he led the league in times at bat and runs scored. He has played in six All Star Games and one World Series. At the close of the 1951 season Dom played exhibition ball in Japan. He is married and has a young son.

WILLARD L. NIXON (Pitcher)

6' 2¼", 192 pounds; bats left, throws right

Willard is a native of Georgia, born in Taylorsville on June 17, 1928 and still makes his home in that state in Lindale. He was signed to his first professional contract by Mace Brown, Red Sox scout, in 1948 and went to Scranton in the Eastern League. Nixon was signed after winning 18 games and losing only three in two seasons for the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In 1949 while pitching for Birmingham he beat Atlanta 5 to 4. In this game Will had four hits and drove in all five runs. In 1950 he pitched a one hitter against Milwaukee for Louisville. In July 1950 after winning 11 and losing 2, and while he was leading the league in strikeouts, Willard was recalled by the Red Sox. His hobbies are hunting, fishing and woodworking, and during the winter months he works for the Pepperell Manufacturing Co. Nixon is married and has a son.

MELVIN LLOYD PARNELL (Pitcher)

Born New Orleans, La., June 13, 1922

Bats and Throws Left; 6', 180 lbs.

Parnell entered professional baseball with Centreville, Maryland, 1941, and came to the Red Sox in 1947. In 1949 he led the American League in complete games, games won, innings pitched and earned run average; and was named on the Sporting News All-Star Major League team. Mel has won more games (111) than any other left-hander in Red Sox history. Lefty Grove was previously high with 105 for eight seasons. In 1953 Mel beat the Yankees five times in five starts with an E.R.A. of 0.64. He was the first pitcher to shut out the Yankees four times in one season since Walter Johnson in 1908. Parnell finished the season with a string of 18 scoreless innings. His hobbies are golf, fishing and hunting. He is married, has a young son and daughter, and is still a resident of New Orleans.

ARCHIE C. WILSON (Outfielder)

5' 11"; 186 pounds; bats and throws right

Born in Los Angeles on November 25, 1923, Archie attended the University of Southern California and was signed to his first professional contract by Bill Esseck, then a Yankee scout. In his second year of pro ball with Victoria Wilson led the league in batting, total bases and number of hits. In 1951 with Buffalo he led the league in hits, total bases, runs batted in, and was voted the most valuable player in the International League. On June 8, 1952 Archie's contract was acquired from Washington by the Red Sox. He is married and spends his winters at his home in Henderson, Nevada with his wife and two children.

ALLEN L. ZARILLA (Outfielder)

5' 11"; 185 pounds; bats left, throws right

A native Californian, Al was born in Los Angeles on May 1, 1920 and his first professional baseball experience was with Batesville in 1938. He came to the majors with the St. Louis Browns in 1943, and among his outstanding performances, he hit two triples in one inning, made four two-base hits in one game and tied for the most official times at bat in a nine inning game — 7. Al was reacquired by the Red Sox from the St. Louis Browns last September. He has played in one All Star Game and one World Series. During the off season Zeke spends most of his time at his hobby of making baseball novelties at his home in Monrovia, California. He is married and has one daughter.
